

THE STORM KING SCHOOL

New York's Premier Boarding School, est. 1867

The path to your future starts here.

ON THE MOUNTAIN

For a century and a half, our School has stood on the shoulder of Storm King Mountain overlooking the scenic Hudson River, in one of the most beautiful and dynamic places in America.

Today, The Storm King School ranks among the top boarding schools in New York, serving students in grades 8-12.

The Storm King School is the place for students who want to forge their own paths, explore their dreams, and discover their future potential. At Storm King, students can clarify their goals and ambitions, and then formulate the plans and acquire the skills that will make their goals a reality.

WE ARE a college preparatory boarding and day school dedicated to the success of each student. Blending the best of proven educational methods with new and emerging technologies, we tailor highly individualized programs to meet the varying needs of each student.

WE PROVIDE a challenging yet nurturing environment where students are encouraged to explore their interests and future potential while at the same time discovering skills, aptitudes, and talents they didn't know they had. We engage students by going beyond the fundamentals of each subject.

The Storm King experience is about so much more than earning a diploma or being accepted into the right college. Yes, we do those things too, but at our very core is our dedication to the SUCCESS OF EACH INDIVIDUAL STUDENT. All of our programs are designed and implemented with this in mind, ensuring that Storm King graduates are successful in college and beyond.

The Storm King School. Start on the path to your future.

“When we ask our students ‘How big can you dream?’ we aren’t just preparing our students for college. Our goal is to inspire them to start pursuing those dreams from the moment they walk through our doors.”

—Jonathan W.R. Lamb, Headmaster

Never a dull moment:

MOUNTAIN DAY

The entire Storm King School community scales Storm King Mountain to mark the beginning of the new school year. This tradition dates back to 1932 when Headmaster Barker instituted the very first Mountain Day.

HUDSON RIVER PLUNGE

In early spring, a hearty group of students and faculty elected by their peers take the plunge into the icy waters of the Hudson River. This event, driven by the National Honor Society to raise funds for charitable causes, has become a Storm King tradition full of laughs and cheers.

COME SEE THE SHOW

Enthusiastic actors, dancers, and musicians find time to rehearse in our impressive Walter Reade Jr. Theatre and delight crowds with superb performances each year! Just recently, it was the musical Cabaret.

ARTS WEEKEND

The creative arts come to life during the Spring Arts Weekend. This annual event celebrates the various branches of the visual, performing, and language arts, along with the talent and dedication of our students and faculty. Attending this event will give you a first-hand look at how arts thrive in the Storm King curriculum.

THURSDAY NIGHT DINNERS

Every meal offers an amazing selection of healthy and delicious foods, but Thursday evenings are extra special as our chefs prepare “family style” dinners for the entire community. Formal dress is worn and students take turns serving. Students and faculty slow down from their usual pace and enjoy pleasant conversation. Afterwards, all head to the theater for a thought-provoking program.

MORE THAN A SCHOOL

We are a small community with big possibilities

“Here everybody knows me by my first name.” — Seth Vieira '22

GO BEYOND THE NUMBERS

Certain facts are impressive—from the year our School was established (1867) to our college acceptance rate (100%). However, when you speak to our students, parents, and alumni, you will find that they are most appreciative of the big possibilities that go along with our small community. This can be directly attributed to our extensive Storm King Alumni Network, with community members residing across the globe in 49 countries and growing.

BE KNOWN

Our enrollment of 185 is perfect for cultivating a supportive and close-knit, yet diverse, community. A place where students can safely and extensively explore their individuality within a nurturing framework of human relationships. From being known and accepted as individuals, our students build confidence, which empowers them to strive, take risks, and reimagine their potential in all areas of their development—leading to big possibilities.

Faculty members serve as a different kind of parent, and each one has a unique set of skills to offer students. When students need advice, motivation, or encouragement, they have 45-plus caring adults ready to meet that need.

Inspiring Teachers, Coaches, and Mentors

EXCEPTIONAL EDUCATORS

Our faculty members are passionate about what they do, and masters of their content areas. They carefully design curriculum to push each student to their maximum potential, while expanding their educational opportunities both in and out of the classroom, preparing them for a world driven by exponential change.

The majority of our faculty members have chosen not only to teach at Storm King, but also to call Storm King their home. Some 65 percent of teachers and staff live on campus, and those who don't live on-site still share meals with students, coach sports teams, lead co-curricular activities, and build relationships with their students that extend beyond the classroom.

Our School community fosters a unique connection between students and teachers, making learning less of an academic pursuit and more a part of real life. Discussions that begin during class continue in the dining hall, on the playing field, and in the dormitory. Because Storm King teachers come to know the whole person, not just the student they see in class, they are able to advise students on a more personal level. Students, in turn, see their teachers as adults they can trust, not just the people who administer their tests.

A CLOSER LOOK AT ONE OF OUR EXCEPTIONAL TEACHERS ▼

Dr. Paul Feffer, Science Department Chair, Advisor, Coach

BS, Physics, Stanford University; PhD, Physics, University of California at Berkeley

Dr. Paul Feffer has always been passionate about learning. As a boy, his father, a professor of orthopedic surgery, brought home real mercury (you know, the toxic stuff), so that his son could make a barometer. Later, inspired by Carl Sagan's television series Cosmos, he took an interest in the skies and picked up rocketry. While in high school, he had a summer job working for an architect creating a scale model of a hotel. Subsequently, he taught himself to program computer software at the dawn of Apple and Microsoft, when very few knew how to use a computer—and even fewer knew how to teach programming.

When you walk into one of Dr. Feffer's classes at Storm King, you can feel his passion for learning and natural curiosity, and you can see how he conveys this to his students.

College Counseling

GIVING YOU THE UPPER HAND

The College Counseling Program at Storm King has a reputation for finding colleges and universities that best match each student's talents, interests, and aspirations. Our college counselors work one-on-one with each student and their family to identify the student's wants and needs, and then guide them into a position of strength where they can choose the college or university that is their best fit.

The results of this personalized college counseling process are impressive. Every one of our students is accepted into college while 90% of seniors are admitted to one or more of their top three college choices.

REALIZE YOUR DREAMS

ACADEMIC PHILOSOPHY

Our program rests on the belief that each student is unique. At Storm King, students have many opportunities to shape their academic journeys. Whether each emerges as a young entrepreneur, promising debater, actor, scientist, or literary scholar, the experience is theirs to create. We encourage students to let their passions and dreams be their guide.

“We challenge students at a range of levels, including the very highest. Our aim is to take advantage of every opportunity for learning, whether it be inside or outside of the classroom.”

—Dr. Tim Lance, Dean of Academics

Academics

YOUR PATH TO SUCCESS

Our world is changing at a rapid pace and today's students must prepare for jobs that do not yet exist, in fields that have not yet been imagined. To ensure that Storm King students graduate with a competitive edge, ready and eager to thrive in the 21st-century economy, we help them become thinkers, doers, problem solvers, and adapters. We emphasize CREATIVITY, COLLABORATION, CRITICAL THINKING, and COMMUNICATION throughout our curriculum. With approximately 100 courses, including AP and Honors level subjects, Storm King students have the opportunity to design a schedule that allows them to explore their particular interests and passions.

Our academic program follows a university-style curriculum. The same four periods meet every day, and students take three to four courses in a given semester. With eight periods offered over the course of an academic year, students engage in more classes than they would at most other prep schools. By refocusing education on the principal of teacher-student interaction, the SKS Model reinforces our commitment to offering an experience that is specifically tailored to each student.

THE CAPSTONE PROJECT is a large-scale research assignment in which students synthesize learning from other courses and demonstrate their command of S.K.S. (Skills for Knowledge and Success) in a real-world context. Capstone Projects may be completed within one academic year, or may carry over into succeeding years. Strategic reading, writing, research, problem solving, technological proficiency, collaboration, and oral presentation skills are emphasized in each project.

THE Q-TERMS are short, intensive courses that provide faculty and students a chance to explore more deeply subject matter for which they have a particular passion and curiosity. Students meet with the same class and instructors every day and pursue only the subject related to their Q-Term. Such focus creates an arena for project-based learning, creative design, and service opportunities that enrich and deepen students' connection to the content.

Residential Life

HOME AWAY FROM HOME

The Storm King School is a true boarding school. About 70 percent of our students live on campus. The residential experience at Storm King educates the whole student and builds a healthy community through evening and weekend activities including service-learning opportunities, outdoor adventures, and cultural excursions. Dorm life is kept vibrant by our student activities committee, who frequently organizes pizza study breaks, dances, concerts, and much more.

...and yes, New York is so close! A commuter rail station is a short drive away from campus, and the Metro North train connects to Grand Central Station in less than an hour. What this means is that our students have easy access to world-class culture, universities, restaurants, and more.

DORMITORIES

More than 130 of our students live on campus. The smallest dorm has 10 students, and our largest has 40. We have 4 dormitories for boys and 2 for girls. The majority of our dorm rooms are arranged for double occupancy, although we do have a few singles and triples available. Some dorms, like Spy Rock and Cottage, are charming chalets and others are handsome brick buildings; all of them house faculty dorm parents and student RAs, comfy common room areas with fireplaces, TVs, and friends.

ADVICE FROM ALUMNI

“My time at Storm King has left a very positive and everlasting impression on me. I had terrific, demanding, supportive, and engaging teachers with sharp and precise minds, and great mentors who held high bars for us by challenging us regularly and positively. One of the aspects of SKS he also valued was the willingness of the students and staff to celebrate uniqueness and help each student grow in their own way.”

—Massoud Amin '79, Director of the Technological Leadership Institute, University of Minnesota

“This is a really phenomenal place to be... Don't miss out on what's in front of you [and] cherish these years. Storm King is where I learned to study, I learned how to be me.”

—Mike Sloan '77, University of Chicago

“When I reflect on my life, I realize I've been extremely fortunate for the myriad of situations and circumstances that a person emanating from my humble beginnings would normally never encounter. Starting with attending Storm King School, I learned principles that have been guideposts for me as I journey through life. These include how to be compassionate, how to live my life with integrity, and how to live life with passion. These fundamental lessons have served me well. But, perhaps the most important influence SKS has had on me is the lifelong connection to the School, my classmates, and the faculty and alumni who are pillars of support to me whenever I need them. I wouldn't exchange one moment of my connection to SKS for anything.”

—The Honorable Harold E. Kennedy '73, Dartmouth College, BA Texas Southern University, Juris Doctorate

“At SKS, you have many opportunities. Get involved and try new things. I took a computer science class which sparked my passion for programming, and that is what I am now pursuing in college. I also played several sports and participated in theater.”

—Taehan Lee '16, Carnegie Mellon University

“SKS helped to foster my interest in international affairs. The professors always challenged us to be independent thinkers and nurtured our inquisitive side. I am a beneficiary of the academic freedom that SKS professors enjoyed that allowed them to not shy away from subject matter that could prove to be controversial.”

—Tyresse Horne '83, Lawyer

“I would not trade my experience on the Mountain for the world. It has made me strong, outgoing, worldly, and malleable to change. Those are the very qualities that make me successful at my job in the Air Force. I have the utmost honor and privilege to say that I get up every day and play a large part in keeping our home safe. As I complete each task put in front of me, I always remember my roots and feel so much gratitude towards SKS for helping me get to where I am today.” —Gabby Garcia '16, Air Force

“ I live in Los Angeles and work as a television writer. Although I only spent three short years at Storm King, I believe they were very influential in defining who I am today and how I have lived my life.

I gained a love of the outdoors playing soccer on the upper field overlooking the Hudson River, and having spent a lot of time climbing on the Mountain and running in Black Rock Forest.

I had teachers who were both mentors and friends and who were invested in my growth on both academic and personal levels. That kind of support is invaluable and I feel very grateful for having had the experience.

I made great friends at Storm King, and in my 50th decade, I find it incredible how close I still feel to them.

Life at Storm King taught me how to live independently and to think for myself. There were set rules to live by, but we were given the room to make decisions for ourselves, from class schedules, to sports, to what we would do for recreation. Much like college, it was a time for huge personal growth.”

—Heather MacGillvray-Myman '81, Professional Writer, currently writing for CBS' Kevin Can Wait TV series
