MY MPA STORY: SUNGJOON PARK

What do you love about MPA?

MPA is such a welcoming community! We are so diverse and accepting that nobody is excluded in any way. Faculty and peers are friendly and caring, as well.

How is your experience at MPA different than your former school?

To sum up the difference in one word, it would be "welcome." Since the students at MPA are so diverse, everyone is welcome to join. In other schools I have gone to elsewhere, there was always an inevitable hostility between students. Here, I see students pursuing their dreams in a safe environment.

In what ways has MPA prepared you for life?

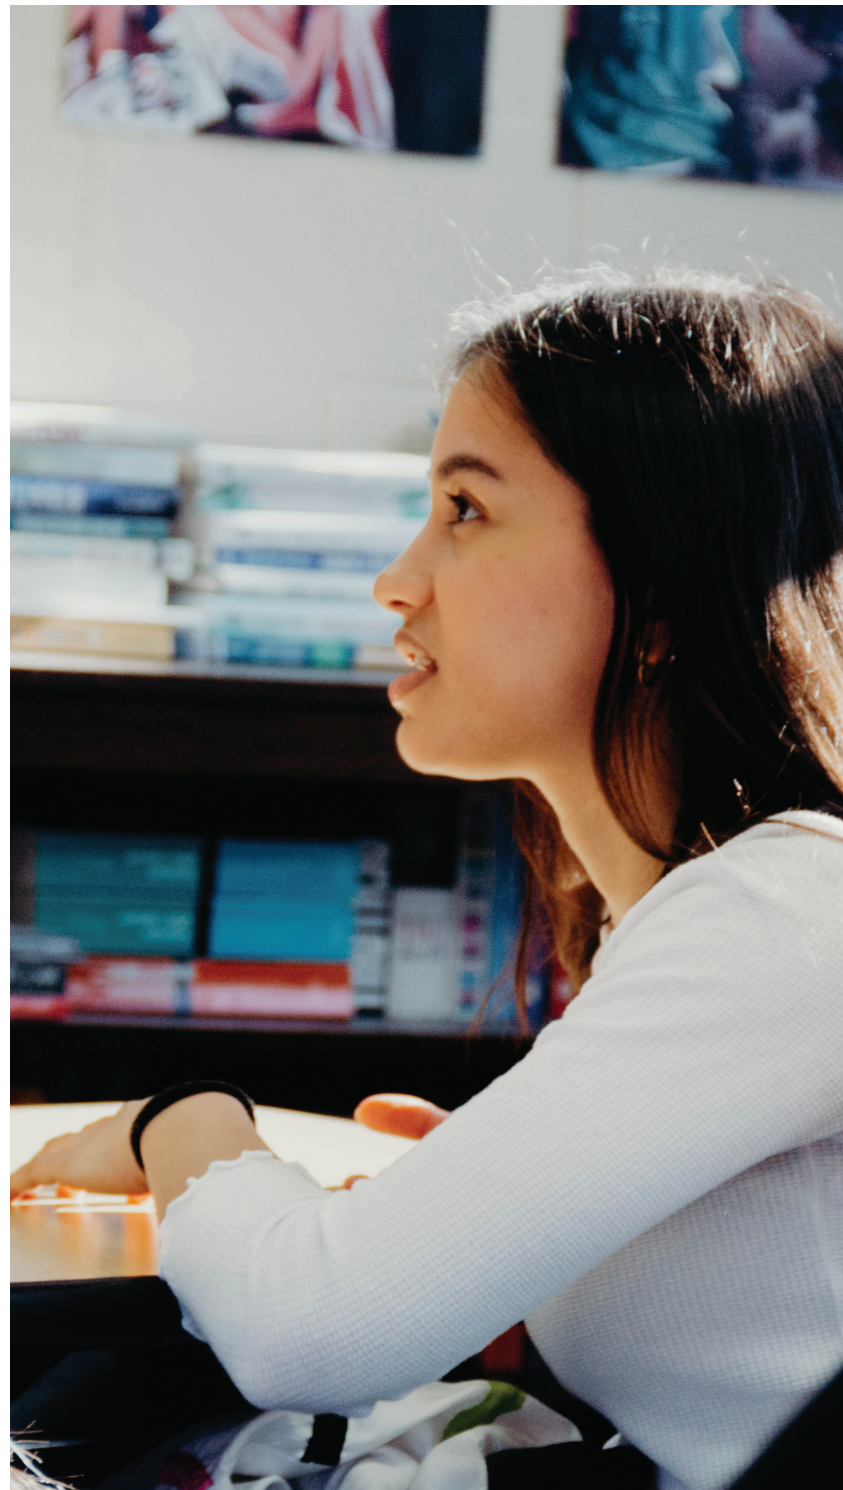

MPA has helped me tremendously in preparing for my adult life in America. As a first-year international student here, I have learned a great deal about American culture. In such a friendly environment, I feel safe to explore the new culture to the best of my abilities.

What do you dream for yourself in 20 years?

When I am 36, I dream of living a happy yet busy life as an entrepreneur. Overall, I will have a positive life and spend a lot of time improving myself.

"I love the warmth of MPA. That's the reason that I chose MPA for my son who had come from so far away to the United States. Throughout the application, school tour, and interview process, I could feel the warmth, respect, and sincerity from teachers, interviewers, and staff. They are all proud of being an MPA family, which makes me feel confident. MPA has something special within their heart to care for students and care for families."

- Sungwon Koo, parent of Sungjoon Park

Mounds Park Academy wholeheartedly embraces diversity and welcomes students from all over the world. We are a safe and inclusive community that offers a rigorous, college-preparatory education to international students in grades nine through 12.

At MPA, we have built a globally minded community and we are currently home to students born in 16 different countries and countless families who have spent significant time living abroad.

Our faculty, students, parents, coaches, host parents, and school community as a whole value the opportunity to learn about new cultures and gain fresh perspectives through the stories and lives of our diverse community.

International students at MPA find that the rigorous college-preparatory curriculum is balanced and always focused on the application of learning rather than memorization. It's infused with thoughtful integration so the connections between concepts and different subject areas are rich. Whether studying biological processes, constitutional law, or multiple languages, students connect their deep content knowledge to the world.

But there's more to the MPA experience than academics. Participation in athletics and co-curriculars is encouraged here and that has a profound impact on the culture and character of the school. Students develop broader groups of friends, greater self-confidence, deeper levels of tolerance and compassion, and they consistently perform better academically when they're involved. They become inspired by their experiences and unafraid to accept new challenges.

MPA graduates are brilliant. They stir the human spirit, stand for justice, and shake the world. They forever dream big and do right.

TUITION AND FEES

Upper School Tuition $31,350

International Student Program Fee $10,550*

Optional Homestay $9,000

*Fees are subject to adjustment based on the student's English language proficiency, visa status, homestay arrangements, and other factors. $10,550 is the maximum program fee. Please contact the Office of Admission for more information.

The following services are included for all international students and are provided through the international student program fee. These benefits, often extremely limited or non-existent in other international programs and independent schools, are proudly offered at MPA:

- Dedicated International Student Program Coordinator who serves as an advisor, teacher, and confidant to all international students on a daily basis and regularly monitors their academic achievement.
- Advanced language and culture course with a 6:1 student-to-teacher ratio for all international students, built into the curriculum as a World Language credit towards graduation. First-year international students are enrolled in this course to help with the cultural transition to an American high school, to discuss important social and historical events of the United States, and learn the nuances of strong academic English and vocabulary to achieve fluency.
- Given MPA's emphasis on public speaking, college preparatory writing, and higher Lexile level reading, students work one-on-one or in small groups with the International Student Program Coordinator throughout the entire duration of their MPA experience.
- College application support, particularly with primary college application essays and supplemental admission essays.
- Social and emotional support: all international students have the Program Coordinator available to help them navigate homesickness, friendships, social situations and events, stress, and culture shock. When needed, the International Student Program Coordinator works closely with the School Counselor and Director of Guidance to be sure the student is as happy and healthy as possible during their time at MPA. Support includes connecting international students to domestic students, faculty and administration, and engaging the students in co-curricular activities.
- New international student orientation: one-on-one meetings with the Director of Guidance to create class schedule, acclimation to classroom and school culture, laptop orientation, plagiarism discussion, school supply shopping, sight-seeing in the Twin Cities, student networking opportunities, and more.
- Translation assistance, upon enrolling and throughout attendance, that helps students in forming connections within the school and the Twin Cities.
- Academic transition and language support offered throughout the student's time at MPA and in preparation for postsecondary schooling. The International Student Program Coordinator is available for ongoing academic support, especially in the areas of History and English, essay writing and high-level reading comprehension, and assisting students in their understanding of American educational standards.
- Daily hot lunch is provided, with culturally and religiously sensitive options.
- Summer orientation and quarterly events throughout the year to help support new and returning students.
- Host family selection, acclimation and support: International host families are carefully recruited, selected and vetted to ensure the highest quality experience for our students. The International Student Program Coordinator works closely with students and their host families to ensure that the home is a safe, welcoming, happy environment for all. Quarterly home visits, one-on-one check-ins with students and host families, communication with natural parents, and student/family events are all ways that the Program Coordinator works with host families and students to build routine, communication, and a supportive experience.
- Translation services provided for international student or parents, including in-person conversations and documentation translation.
- Professional development of faculty provides knowledge and skills to support the needs of international students and to deepen their understanding of working with students from varying cultures. The International Student Program Coordinator often also plays a pivotal role in facilitating communication between students, teachers, host parents and natural parents, ensuring the success of our students.
- Visa and immigration assistance and documentation support.
